MISS SAWYER'S SALVE.

FRIDAY, JAN. 12, 1872.

PARISH MEETING OF THE UNION SOCIETY.—The friends of the Union Congregational Church and Society of Weymouth and Braintree, both at home and abroad, will rejoice in the announcement we are privileged to make this week that the diversity of sentiment which has existed in the body for some five years past, has been happily extinguished, the vote of the majority of the members of the ecclesiastical council, having been removed by the vote being rescinded by the society, leaving the way clear for harmony of feeling and action among the members. Another source of difficulty in the affairs of the Society has been the ownership of the basement of the house of worship by other parties, and this has been satisfactorily removed by the Society to the Society, the property to the Society by Dea. S. W. Nash, who has purchased the basement for $600, the original owners to retain possession of the strip of land on the south side of the railroad.

At the meeting of the Parish last Wednesday evening, a unanimous determination existed to put the affairs of the Society in the hands of a committee, and as one important step towards this object, an appropriation of $600 was made to improve the house of worship by raising it six feet, bringing the basement to a level with the surface of the ground, and otherwise improving the structure.

For every work of improvement, a Building Committee was appointed, the committee comprising the following gentlemen:—Stephen W. Nash, Chairman; Hon. W. Loud, Augustus J. Richards, Erastus Nash, Francis Ambler, Henry Gardner. The subscribers to the subscription paper which was circulated some months ago for the same object, will be waited upon again if they have not given the amounts subscribed by them, and the work will be immediately forwarded.

A proposition was also made at the meeting to add an extension to the rear of the house, thus furnishing space for a choir back of the pulpit, and place the organ, and a sub-basement, three stories lower than the instrument owned by the Union Society, and to gain this power requires additional pipes of greater length than the present singing gallery will admit, and the extension, if built, will furnish the height needed. The Building Committee were clothed with full powers to make the addition, if they deem it expedient.

The officers elected on Wednesday evening were as follows:—

- Assessors—Erastus Newton, Francis Ambler, A. J. Richards.
- Clerk—C. T. Crane.
- Treasurer—A. S. White.
- Collector—W. H. Houghton.

A committee of five was appointed to supply the pulpit, and a vote was passed to tax the pews as usual for the support of preaching, and the payment of other expenses.

COMMITTEES.—In the report of the regular meeting of the Norfolk Agricultural Society, among the appointments of committees, we find the names of Erastus Nash, of Weymouth, and Alva Morrison, of Braintree, on horses; B. F. White, of Weymouth, on leather.

ENLARGEMENTS.—That excellent country paper, the Norfolk County Gazette, edited by H. O. Hildreth, Esq., has assumed larger proportions, and in mechanical execution and editorial ability stands unsurpassed by any country journal. It is a paper of which Hyde Park may well be proud.

REAL ESTATE SALE.—The statement in the Boston paper that Quayle, Bicknell, Esq., trustee of the estate of John Barnes, of Weymouth, has sold to James Edwards, 45 1/2 acres of land on North Weymouth, extending from Bridge street to the Monatiquot river, with the buildings thereon, for $600, is a repetition of the account of the auction sale published a month ago.

SAID COMBINATION OF MISFORTUNE.—A young lady named Osgood, residing in Quincy, and formerly a scholar at the Mount Young Ladies' Seminary, in Braintree, was the victim of a singular affliction, and by advice of a physician, her parents journeyed with her to Florida, where she recently deceased. Her father returned home with the body, leaving the mother in Florida, an invalid. During his absence the mother passed away, and the father of Miss Osgood started for the South, in the hope of finding a suitable partner, for her. On the 1st of January, he met with a severe accident, and we learn was brought home again, the body of his wife having been interred in the fair of South. A former schoolmate of the young lady, residing in Weymouth, received a package from her schoolmate, with a letter stating that she did not expect to recover, and sent the letter as a token of remembrance. Only one day elapsed between its reception and the arrival of another letter announcing her death.

NOTICE FOR RELEASE.—We learn that a number of persons are being imitated in Weymouth, praying for the release from the House of Correction at Dighton, for Jose Lloroz, who was sentenced for participation, with two or three others, in an assault on a resident of Braintree. The prisoner was married to a young lady residing in Weymouth, a short time previous to his sentence, and his friends claim that he was not a participant in the assault, but was simply a tool in company, and that since his confinement he has sensibly declined in health, they consider the grounds of petition for his release as reasonable.

GLUTTONOUS FELINES.—A resident of this town made a recent visit to some friends at a distance, last summer, leaving three cats behind, who were daily supplied by a neighbor with nice biscuits to the amount of $600, in two weeks, as the claimant avers, and in default of payment, that sum a suit is threatened. The more economical way would have been to have killed one cat to feed the others.

NOT SO.—The Boston Traveller copies the sketch given in our paper last week, and garbles it somewhat in saying "A hunger in Quincy," etc., making it appear that Mr. Hodges was the victim of the atrion rogue, which was not the case.

VIOLIN MANUFACTURE.—Mr. Calvin Baker, of Weymouth, has gained a wide reputation in the manufacture of violins, the specimens of his production vying in quality with those of the most celebrated manufacturers, and his business in this line is constantly increasing.

Grant and his Defenders.—The New York Times publishes the list of the persons who hold office under Government, and were called "the President's relatives," who are opposed to his candidacy for a second term, supplementing the list with proofs of the probability of the accusations, showing that many of the so-called "cousins" are not related to the President; that several of those who are related were appointed by Johnson, and have been left in their places on account of their recommendations as to their ability to fill the posts; that some of the persons named do not even hold an office under Government.

Call at Williams' and examine his Overcoats, now is the time to buy cheap.

Braintree.
BRAINTREE FARMERS' CLUB.—Mr. Editor:—The Club met according to adjournment, Wednesday evening, Jan. 3. President in the chair.

Before proceeding to the discussion of the question assigned for the evening, a debate arose upon two proposed amendments to the constitution of the Club. The first proposed amendment was to the effect that it be known as the "Citizens and Farmers' Club." The amendment was proposed by Dea. D. W. Childs, who advocated it, because he thought our name was too exclusive, and moreover, gentlemen, on entering the cars, had been "sarkistically" saluted as farmers, because they had joined the club.

Mr. L. H. Johnson inquired if farmers were not citizens, and if citizens might not be farmers?

Mr. G. H. Arnold, (after calling Mr. J. Ward Childs to the chair) earnestly contended against any departure from the original design or name of the Club. If any gentleman felt that association with the name of a small farmer was derogatory to his dignity, he was free to do so.

It was voted that the name proposed would be as good as any for the other sex to call their favorite meeting "The Ladies and Women's Sewing Circle."

It was voted that the proposition lie on the table. But an informal vote was next taken, and it was declared the sense of the meeting to be in favor of calling it the "Citizens' Club."

The second proposed amendment, submitted by Mr. Joseph Shaw, was that the President should be elected monthly.

Mr. E. L. Humphrey seconded the proposal.

Mr. Arnold moved that it was farmer's Club, which had a definite purpose, and a work to accomplish, he should oppose spending so much time for so little good,—but as the present prospect was, that the club would be remodeled into a more talking school, he hadn't the least objection to it.

The amendment was adopted.

The question for discussion, "Should the Town return to the Old District System of School Management?" was then taken up.

Mr. E. L. Humphrey seconded the proposal for a new system, and a work to accomplish, he should oppose spending so much time for so little good,—but as the present prospect was, that the club would be remodeled into a more talking school, he hadn't the least objection to it.

FRIDAY, JAN. 19, 1872.

FLATTERING PROSPECTS.—Since the publication of the article in the Gazette of Dec. 26, we have had great many entertainments to be given at Weymouth Town Hall on the evening of Feb. 21, we learn that a large number of reserved seats have already been taken by citizens who cherish a lively interest in whatever pertains to the welfare of the "Boys in Blue," and it is probable that the evening of the entertainment will see the Town Hall packed with an audience much larger than before assembled within its walls. The pecuniary benefit to the Post in attracting a large audience to the entertainment is not of so much consequence as is the expression of public sympathy and support in their work of aiding the needy and distressed, who look to them for succor in their adversity; and in behalf of the Committee, who have labored zealously to present to the public an unexceptionable entertainment, we call upon our readers to give them an overwhelming manifestation of their continued interest in the association, which seeks to ameliorate the suffering produced by the war in which so many of our own townsmen laid down their lives for the defense of the country.

WHO WAS SHE?—The shooting of James Fisk, Jr., in New York, by Stokes, his rival in the affections of the notorious Josie Mansfield, is one of the questions of the day. The King of France, who, when he was informed that his son, employed on the outside adornment of the palace, had fallen from a ladder and broken his leg, inquired, "Who was she?"

The reply being that it was a man that had fallen, the King said, "A woman is at the bottom of the mishap, and further inquiry would lead to the discovery."

Painter had leaned so far toward a window to kiss a chamber-maid that he lost his balance and fell to the ground.

The tragic end of Fisk is to be ascribed to the evil influence of a licentious woman, and the fact that the murdered man was making an honest and manly effort to break away from vice and its entanglements, as appears from the public details, which he had written to the courtesan, makes his assassination a crime of still greater magnitude, cutting him off from the opportunity of reformation. While we lament the perversion of commanding talent with an honorable course of life, with which we are all familiar, the world's greatest benefactors, the "deep damnation of his taking off" should clothe the names of his assassin and the siren who lured him to his death, with eternal obloquy.

ACCIDENT AND DEATH.—Mr. Robert Gardner, a carpenter in the service of Robert K. Baker, an expressman at Weymouth Landing, for many years past, was killed last Tuesday morning, about half-past nine o'clock, while unloading wax waste from a wagon into a car at the Weymouth Landing Depot. He was standing on top of the load, when a bare of waste canted and struck him, throwing him off the load to the ground. He fell in such a manner that the side of his face, and it is reported, the blow either broke the spinal cord, or produced fatal concussion of the brain. Dr. Hathaway was called, but Mr. Gardner was beyond the reach of medical aid, and lived but half an hour after the accident, in an unconscious state. Mr. Gardner was a native of Hingham, and leaves a daughter, his wife having died some years since. Funeral services were held in the Unitarian Church at South Hingham, on Thursday, the body being conveyed to that village for interment.

ANNUARY.—Delphi Lodge, K. of P., dedicated in the name of Robert K. Baker, an expressman at Weymouth Landing to the use of the order, Thursday evening of last week, it being the second anniversary of the establishment of the Lodge. The customary work of the Knights having been disposed of, about 8 o'clock a large delegation of ladies were admitted to the "Castle," and for the remainder of the evening the Lodge with an elegant and tasteful scene enclosing the Charter, and also a fine copy of the Scriptures for the Altar. The addresses of presentation were made by Mrs. William Cushing, of the Landing, and Miss Cleverly, of North Weymouth, daughter of Wilmer Cleverly, Chancellor Huber made a brief but appropriate speech, and the Lodge being opened, singing to the vocal performance of the Masonic Choir, who kindly volunteered their aid, and readings of several pieces in a tasteful manner by Mrs. E. H. Nash, of South Weymouth, the announcement of a "challenge" at the postern gate heralded the appearance of the grand officers, who proceeded to dedicate the hall in due form, after which the Lodge was opened to partake of a collation in Lincoln Hall, where plates had been laid for two hundred guests, every seat being occupied. The Chancellor, at the conclusion of this part of the entertainment, called on E. C. Bumpus, Esq., who addressed the company in a few sentences, and remarks, and was followed by several grand officers, the address being interspersed with songs by the Masonic Choir, who were the recipients of a sentiment complimentary to their musical ability, offered by Bro. Darius Smith. The occasion was one of much interest, evincing that the Knights are masters of the situation, and intend that Delphi shall not be behind their brethren in other places in the work of the Order.

FATALITY.—We learn that Mr. Osgood, of Quincy, who met with an accident while walking South to the place of his wife's death, has since died, and was published last week, has since died, and we regret to learn that still another distressing case has befallen the husband of Mrs. Osgood's sister, and his wife. The pair had proceeded as far as New York city on their journey to attend to the affairs of the deceased Osgood family, and while walking in the streets of that city, they were knocked down by a runaway horse, both of them being struck on the head and instantly killed. We can scarcely credit so singular a combination of fatality were it not that we have the account from friends of the family, who are conversant with the circumstances.

FLAT-FOOTED.—Victoria Woodhull is determined not to be misunderstood in her advocacy of the pernicious sentiment of which she is an ardent champion, when she said in her lecture in Boston, "I have an inalienable, constitutional and natural right to love whom I may, to love as long as or as few persons as I please, and to change that right neither you nor any law can frame have any right to interfere." And I have the further right to demand a free and unrestricted exercise of that right, and it is your duty only to accord it, but, as a community, to see that I am protected in it. I trust that I am fully understood for I mean just that and nothing less!"

FLAT-FOOTED.—Delphi Lodge, No. 15, of Weymouth, took this opportunity to return their thanks to Mrs. Eldridge, No. 15, in the manner in which she contributed to the entertainment of the company at their dedication and anniversary on the evening of the 11th of the present month. They also thank the Masonic Choir of Weymouth for the very excellent services rendered by them on this occasion. Also to their lady friends do they owe under great obligations for the splendid frame for their Charter, and for the beautiful Bible presented by them on that evening.

PASTORAL CALL.—Rev. L. Dickerman has received and accepted a call to the pastorate of the First Congregational Church in Quincy, Illinois.

DARIUS SMITH.—W. R. S. Weymouth, January 18, 1872.

Braintree.

BRAINTREE FARMERS' CLUB.—Mr. Editor.—The Club met as per adjournment, Wednesday evening, Jan. 10, President in the chair.

Mr. N. F. T. Hayden resigned the office of Secretary, and Mr. Wm. F. Locke then balloted for President, and on the second ballot, Mr. H. Arnold was received by a large majority, and the Club made unanimous. Mr. Arnold acknowledged the compliment by a few remarks, when the club proceeded to the discussion of the question previously selected for the evening, viz.—

"ought the running of Sunday Trains to be prohibited by law?" The debate in the affirmative, by taking high grounds against what he considered a gross violation of the Mosaic code.

Mr. E. L. Humphreys followed in the negative. While he would not say a word to Sabbath or its observances, in the mind of any youth he yet must be induced to lay aside all prejudice, and consider the necessities of the times, and the amount of good which may be done by means of those trains, before he decides that, at first, may seem a desecration of holy institutions, is not in reality but the result of God's providences for the benefit of the country.

Mr. D. W. Childs, in the affirmative, claimed first, that in a philosophic view, the running of those trains ought to be prohibited, because the employees of the railroad need rest from labor, like other people. And secondly, in a religious view, because such prohibition would be in accordance with the command of the Sabbath.

Mr. Locke, this Session, has said that, when the proposition to put on Sunday trains was first made, he felt it duty to have nothing to do with it, but by more mature deliberation, and on careful consideration of its working, he had become convinced that it was useful, justifiable, and necessary, and he would now vote for the continuation of it. Let every man conscience be his judge, in regard to the use of the trains.

Mr. T. B. Vinton told the story of the Planter, who was always arranging his business, so as to make it appear necessary for the continuation of it. Let every man conscience be his judge, in regard to the use of the trains.

How? PEARL RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—Mr. T. B. Vinton, of Weymouth, Vt. Four freight cars, heavily laden with lumber and merchandise, had been brought up to the junction near Cassville by a coal train. These freight cars were carelessly uncoupled on a grade of 8½ feet to the mile, and immediately began backing toward Utica, gaining momentum at a fearful rate, and all efforts to stop them by the engine, or by other means, on the track were ineffective. A train had left for Utica, but eight minutes before, and every one was well aware that the heavy freight cars would be in a few minutes going crashing into its rear. Fortunately the engine of the coal train stood a number of feet from the track, and the men who were on the coal train, who were not in the engine, were able to stop the train, and save the lives of the men who were on the coal train.

Mr. Elias Holbrook had used the sun train repeatedly to attend church services, and at another place, and his conscientious required him of all wrong in doing to the Sabbath. He thought the corporation would be in a position to do what he desired, and that it was useful, justifiable, and necessary, and he would now vote for the continuation of it. Let every man conscience be his judge, in regard to the use of the trains.

Sunset.

Over the yellow waving meadowland,
Down beside the sparkling rill,
Where the summer breeze came singing
Through the golden glow—
Clouds of crimson far above—
There I told "old, old,"—
To the stars my heart's dear love,
Two sweet lips, so bright and tender,
All her girlish ways confest'd;
Oh! the world is full of wonder!
The hour I love the best!

Though the roses have vanished,
Though our locks are tinged with gray,
From our hearts we never have banished
Love, though it is a young day;
When the hour of toll is over,
Homeward now my flight I wing,
All my dear ones round me never,
Meet me in that sheltered bower,
Oh! the world is full of wonder!
The hour I love the best!

Farm, Garden and Household.

FRANCE CASTLE AND SISTER on the bare ground may be necessary in certain circumstances, but, as a rule, it is a most wasteful practice. If you cannot do anything better, make a rack out of five or six rails or poles, placed alongside a bar or shed, or fence.

SPICED APPLES.—The best way to make spiced apples is to take eight pounds of apples, pared, four pounds of sugar, one quart of vinegar, one ounce stick cinnamon, half ounce of cloves. Boil the sugar, vinegar and sugar together, put in the apples, then boil and let them remain until tender, about one minute. Take them out and put them in a jar. Boil down the syrup until thick, and pour it over.

SOOT.—Although, almost ever since agriculture has been practiced, soot has been known to be a valuable manure, in the nineteenth century there are hundreds of farmers who cannot be persuaded to believe it. It is really a valuable as gunpowder. Take a horse-drawn wagon, and dissolve in it a pound of soot, and you will have a splendid liquid manure for plants. Apply it to the roots, of course, and then wash the result.—Journal of the Farm.

BOURN CULTIVATION OF CORN.—S. French, Silver Lake, Kansas, informed the Farmer's Club how he cultivated corn. His soil is sandy loam. He plows seven inches deep, plants his corn in rows, and cultivates with a one-horse double-shovel very light, so that he tears up the corn roots, which gather on the surface. The soil is not broken, containing some slack humus.

The attention to Gen. Sherman and his party, at Madrid, were very marked, and the fact is looked upon as decidedly favorable to a continuance of peace.

ROBERT C. FANNING, a member of the Chelsea City, (Mass.) Council, was found dead in his bed, it is supposed from an overdose of hydrate of chloral.

An official Treasury communication shows the total number of persons employed in collection of customs during the year ending June 30, 1871, to be 4,409.

The following sentence—“John quickly extemporized five tow bars”—contains all the letters of the alphabet, and only four of them are used more than once.

A HEAVY shock of earthquake was felt at Quebec, at 8.10 o'clock at night, lasting five seconds. The citizens were considerably alarmed, and ran out of their houses.

W. B. WELAND, a member of the Louisiana House from Sabine Parish, was shot and killed by three assistant sergeants-at-arms. The murderers have been stronger; and any fat or flesh stored up during this period, will, in case of a good cow, find its way to the milk-pail next morning. For this reason we advocate liberal feeding when the cows are dry. There is a great medical advantage in milk cows. If fat, without judgment it may be injurious; but in our own experience we have never known two quarts of meal a day, cooked or uncooked (but far better cooked), have any other than the beneficial effect. Do not forget to card the cows, or to give salt regularly and an abundant supply of fresh (not ice cold) water.

HINDING DAIRY FARMS.—Health and Home:—Several plans by which to curb the milk of cows are suggested. First, by artificial processes, such as bone-dust and nitrate of salt. In such circumstances these manures might be used with profit. Where grainine bone-dust can be obtained for $25 per ton, and nitrate of soda for 3½ to 4 cents per pound, we should not hesitate to use them extensively, at the rate of say 500 pounds to the acre, and 200 pounds of the latter to the acre, in the fields.

PROFOUND DEMOCRATIC member of the Ways and Means Committee of the U. S. House, will be in favor of the repeal of the income tax, and that a bill to that effect will be reported to the House.

MR. E. T. HAYNES, the man who conducted two hundred women and children to a place of safety during the Potosi effects, died a few days since from the effects of hot air inhaled at that time.

It is believed that the majority of the members of the House will be in favor of the repeal of the income tax, and that a bill to that effect will be reported to the House.

MR. H. M. MUNSON, charged with the embezzlement of $12,000 of U. S. government bonds while employed as a clerk in the Treasury Department, was convicted of the offence.
